

General terms and conditions for advertising on Bovision. se

1. Property right

Ownership, such as copyright, or other intellectual property rights to services on the marketplace Bovision. se are held by Bovision AB unless otherwise indicated.

2. Advertising

Only real estate agents, members of the law society, professional housing agents and real estate companies can advertise on Bovision. se. It is not permitted to advertise reserved or already sold objects or enter incorrect geography areas etc on the object descriptions. It is also not permitted to use incorrect information in order to get higher priority in the result lists. Bovision has the right to delete incorrect objects.

Transfer of items to the market place can be made via Capitex/Vitec systems Bovision tool "Reg On Line "or via XML upload.

3. Codes of conduct

For advertisement the advertiser is responsible for providing accurate information about the objects and other information such as addresses pictures and graphical illustrations are accurate and relevant.

4. Billing

Customers with subscription are charged, to latest known address, six or twelve month in advance according to the applicable price list if not differently agreed. Handling fee 30 SEK (€3,50) per invoice.

Subscription period starts after payment is received.

5. Error notification

For disruption, or other degradation of service, the customer shall immediately notify Bovision AB. Company shall then take the appropriate action to correct the error.

6. Termination

The subscription ends after six or twelve month without further notice.

7. Limitation of liability

Bovision AB is not responsible for direct or indirect damages or losses incurred as a result of advertising on Bovision.se. With indirect losses means, loss of profit, loss of turnover, interruption of business etc.

8. Miscellaneous

If any of the information on this order is not in conformity with your instructions, please notify us at latest 5 days after receipt of this order confirmation. If not the terms in this order confirmation is agreed and accepted.